LOCAL AFFAIRS.

By Our Regular and Casual Reporters and Correspondents.

The Young Men's Christian Association Notes.

The Board of Directors met on Monday evening of this week at the home Mr. Thomas McGowan.

The Treasurer reports over six hundred dollars pledged, and of this over four hundred dollars are now in the treasury.

The House Committee expects in a few days to report rooms secured in a central location.

The following are some of the standing committees already appointed by the president:

Committee on Finance—Geo. H. Sherman, John Sanderson, Fred E. Langstroth.

Executive committee—G. Theron Moore, John Sanderson, H. B. Sheldon, J. W. Stewart, Fred E. Langstroth.

The constitution and by-laws will soon be printed in book form, and copies of the same ready for distribution.

Among the members a communication was received this week from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, conveying to the Y. M. C. A., their congratulations on the formation of the society and freely offering their assistance in the good work.

It is with pleasure we announce the formation of a Ladies Auxiliary. This was accomplished on Monday by a goodly number of ladies from the different churches who met at the house of Miss Sheldon, and with commendable enthusiasm effected the organization.

We call special attention to The Watchman, a semi-monthly paper published in Chicago in the interests of Young Men's Christian Associations. The subscription price is only one dollar per year. Names of new subscribers may be sent to Henry B. Sheldon, Jr. This paper should be in the hands of every member of the association, as it will prove of immense value to them in the work. It also contains a vast amount of matter specially adapted to Sabbath school and to all other Christian workers.

A lengthy editorial appeared in THE CITIZEN of some weeks ago strongly favoring a library for Bloomfield. We are glad to report that this is one of the distinctive features of association work.

The Y. M. C. A. of the United States containing 300,000 volumes values at $293,168. A standing committee on Library in our own association has been appointed, who will keep this important matter in mind. It may be an interesting bit of news to many, to know that there has been on deposit in the Bloomfield Savings Institution since January 6th, 1872, the sum of thirty-two dollars and fifteen cents ($32.15) to the credit of the Bloomfield Library and reading room committee of the Euclidean Society. With the interest, this fund must now amount to about fifty dollars, a nice little nest egg for the library of the Y. M. C. A.

It may also be of interest to some to know that there is in the possession of the President of the Y. M. C. A. the original library and book case of the Bloomfield Library Co., with the law and minute book of the same containing dates as far back as April 1st, 1825, and bringing to light such honored names as Rev. G. N. Judd, Simeon Baldwin, Zophar B. Dodd, J. M. Ward, J. B. Pitt, Daniel D. Beach, Dr. Joseph S. Dodd, Samuel M. Dodd, Ephraim P. Stiles.

These books may not now be regarded as very attractive to the younger portion of the community, but will doubtless be interesting as relics of a bygone age, to many of our older townspeople. When the Y. M. C. A. rooms are opened, this old time library will be removed thereto, and may we not hope that such will be its magnetic power that it shall speedily attract to itself something like one thousand volumes of the very best and most suitable works extant.

Y. M. C. A.

Bloomfield Building and Loan Association.

The annual meeting of the above association was held on Monday evening at the rooms over the Post Office. There was a large attendance of the past year's shareholders and a number of new ones.

The financial report, as already given to the public in THE CITIZEN, was read by the Secretary and upon its formal adoption, a resolution was offered by a member expressing the entire approval of the shareholders and thanking the officers and directors for their very satisfactory year's work.

The polls were opened for an election of officers to serve during the present year. The old officers, with the exception of two directors, were re-elected, the board of management now standing as follows:

President, John G. Keyler; Vice-President, Morris Van Vleet; Secretary, Joseph A. Peloubet; Treasurer, Charles W. Martin; Directors: T. C. Whitman, F. M. Hinkle, A. H. Olmstead, Lewis Dawkins, J. M. Unangst, W. S. Lockwood, Lyman B. Clapper and S. M. Hulm.

A new series of stock was commenced and 134 shares at once taken.

A Horsecar Wrecked.

As horsecar No. 6 was on its way to Newark Tuesday evening, about eight o'clock, it was struck and badly damaged by an engine of the Orange branch at the Bloomfield avenue crossing. The driver states that as he approached the crossing he saw the engine with a freight car coming, and tried to check his car, but could not, on account of the down grade and icy track. He consequently urged the horse forward and succeeded in getting nearly clear of the crossing, when the locomotive caught the end of the car, tore the platform off, and badly wrecked that of the car. The only occupant of the car, John Burroughs, of Caldwell, was thrown out and half buried under the debris. He received several severe bruises about the face and breast, and his side and one leg were bruised.

Mr. Burroughs was positive that the breaks were not applied. The locomotive struck the street car about a foot from where he was sitting, and demolished the vehicle. He found himself beneath the debris, and was liberated without help, the driver busying himself looking for his cash box.

The Watessing Free Public Library.

At a meeting of this society on Wednesday evening the following board of trustees were elected:

Frederick H. Pileh, president; Isaac Derby, vice-president; P. McCallum, secretary; Dr. A. H. Van Riper, treasurer; Chas. Frant, librarian; James E. Hampson, Francis Law, Alfred H. Elderger, James Albion, Frederick C. Aucott, M. A. Daly, Dr. H. E. Richards.

A room has been secured and it is hoped it will be ready for the reception of the books already received, this evening.

BLOOMFIELD BRIEF LOCALS.

—A Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., of Bloomfield, has been formed.

—Mr. Andrew, the butcher, is putting up a neat cottage on Montgomery street.

—Entitled to honorable mention—those citizens who give due attention to the ice and snow in front of their premises, and while sprinkling ashes do not use rubber-destroying cinders.

—The following gentlemen were elected Trustees of the German Presbyterian church for the year 1887: George W. Farnoff, Henry Meuser, Jacob Koch, Adam Romig and George Schmidt.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Essex County Building and Loan Association will be held Tuesday evening, January 18, in Unangst's Hall. A new series of stock of this Association will be opened in April.

—On Wednesday evening about twenty-four of the members of Eureka Lodge, No. 45, Knights of Pythias, went on a sleigh ride to Elizabeth, to visit a sister lodge at that place. They returned in the early hours of the morning.

—The prosperous Young Men's Christian Association of the Oranges threw open their new building on Tuesday evening last, with very interesting exercises, including a solo by Ira D. Sankey the evangelist. The building was beautifully decorated, and the opening a great success.

—Those of our readers who contemplate buying new carpets and furniture should visit Amos Van Horn's extensive establishment, 73 Market street, Newark. He has made a special reduction for this present time, and has a great variety of almost all needed articles in the housekeeping line.

—Cornelius Cadmus, formerly a resident of Bloomfield, died on the 5th inst., at Fowler's, Mich., whence he removed a few years ago. His death occurred on his 81st birthday. The funeral took place at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Van Auker, in Newark, on Wednesday last.

—The Essex County Mutual Insurance Company have elected as President, Joseph K. Oakes; Vice-President, John Rusby; Secretary and Treasurer, Thomas C. Dodd; Executive Committee, Joseph K. Oakes, John Rusby and Horace Dodd; Directors, D. C. Baldwin, W. J. Williamson, John Collard, J. K. Oakes, J. M. Walker.

—A Library Association has been formed for the eastern section of Bloomfield township, comprising Franklin Hill district, Watessing and Doddtown, with Watessing as centre of gravity. Mr. Frederick H. Pileh is president of the Association and Mr. Charles Frank, librarian. The gentlemen named will be glad to receive books or the equivalent to help the movement along.

—To German scholars of Bloomfield it will be of interest, that a new book from the pen of our townsman, Dr. Geo. C. Seibert, has made its appearance before the public. The volume bears the name, "Our German Forefathers," and is published by the New York Book Depository, Clinton Place near Broadway, New York, and is a work of exceptional merit, both as to thoroughness of historical research as well as to its elegance of language.

—It is not generally known that the Young Men's Union of the Church of the Sacred Heart has had a reading and club room open for young men every evening for a number of years, over Stanford's store. The Association has lately purchased a lot adjoining the Hose House on Bloomfield avenue and intends soon to put up a building, suitable for a gymnasium and as general society headquarters. The members deserve commendation for their quiet yet useful mode of working. Cuius sumus?—credit to whom credit is due.

Heard on the Street.

Two of them meet on the street.
"Oh, Nellie! I'm so glad to see you! What have you been doing all week?"

"I've been reading just the loveliest novel. It's too sweet for anything."

"Oh, do tell me about it."

"Why, there is a young girl, and a villain, who is just perfectly lovely, and the young girl is one of those creatures who is just too angelic for anything, and she says, 'Avant, villain, avant, tempt me not,' to the villain. But the villain, he does, just the same. And that's as far as I've got."

"It must be just lovely."

"Oh, it is. Well, good-by. I must go and finish that book. I'm just on needles to see how it comes out. You must come and see me."

"I will, for I'm awfully anxious to hear the rest of it, too. Good-by."

"Good-by. Come soon."

"I will. Good-by."

"Good-by."
